Everyone's a winner with a credit union!

Over 300 West Lothian residents joined a credit union in the first two months of 2010, providing them with access to financial services run by and for local people. The names of everyone who joined over this period were entered into a prize draw, with prizes donated by the three local credit unions – Blackburn Seafield & District, Capital and Livingston – and also by West Lothian Council and West Lothian Credit Union Forum.

One of the winners, James Thomson, pictured below with his prize of an iPod shuffle, joined Livingston Credit Union on his wedding day and is delighted with the convenience of having services available in the town centre. Credit union offices are based in the centres of Livingston, Bathgate and Blackburn and are open every day for people to open savings accounts, apply for affordable loans and the other services available.
